

Countries which allow appeals on questions of law (in no particular order)

Country / applicable provision	Application in Domestic Arbitrations	Application in Intl Arbitrations
New Zealand Arbitration Act 1996, s 6 and cl 5 of sch 2	Right of appeal applies by default, unless that right is expressly excluded by the agreement of the parties.	No right of appeal except by express agreement of the parties.
United Kingdom Arbitration Act 1979, s 69	Right of appeal applies by default (proceedings initiated either with agreement of all parties or with the permission of the court). Parties can "opt out". Only applies to questions of English law.	Right of appeal applies by default (proceedings initiated either with agreement of all parties or with the permission of the court). Parties can "opt out". Only applies to questions of English law.
Scotland
Cook Islands Arbitration Act 2014, cl 5(1) of sch 2	No right of appeal except by express agreement of the parties.	No right of appeal except by express agreement of the parties.
Hong Kong Arbitration Ordinance Cap 209, s 99 and cl 5 of sch 2.	Right of appeal applies by default.
United States Federal Arbitration Act, s 10(a)(4) "excess of authority" (see Gary Born at Section 25.05.A.1.a)	Right to apply to vacate award on basis of "manifest disregard of law" (some doubt as to whether the doctrine still exists).	Right to apply to vacate award on basis of "manifest disregard of law" (some doubt as to whether the doctrine still exists).
Qatar
Singapore
Malaysia
Chile
Australia
Ireland
Peru
Abu Dhabi Code of Civil Procedure, Art 91(2)(v)	Right to apply applies by default.	Right to apply applies by default.
Libya Code of Civil and Commercial Procedure 1953, Art 767	Right to apply applies by default. Parties can opt out.	Right to apply applies by default. Parties can opt out.
Saudi Arabia
Argentina National Code of Civil and Commercial Procedure, Art 758	Right to apply applies by default. Parties can opt out.	Right to apply applies by default. Parties can opt out.
Egypt Arbitration Law, Art 53(1)

Countries which do not allow appeals on questions of law (have not looked these up, but can do so if required)

- UNCITRAL Model Law 1985
- Chinese Arbitration Law (as amended in 2012)
- Quebec Code of Civil Procedure, Arts 946(2)
- Uruguayan General Code of Procedure, Art 499
- Belgian Judicial Code, Art 1717(4)
- Malaysian Arbitration Act 1952, s 34
- Case law from US, Switzerland, France, Italy (see Gary Born at 25.05.A.2)